Artificial Versus Real

Infinite Water Inc., as most of the financial world, along with everyday people, has probably read or heard the astounding news that NVIDIA is currently the world's third most valuable company. Is NVIDIA valuable? When combined with Microsoft (#1) and Apple (#2) there is a total market capitalization of about $9.2 trillion, these three most valuable tech firms have overtaken all of the nearly $9 trillion worth of stocks actively traded on Chinese exchanges excluding Hong Kong.

Infinite Water Inc. congratulates NVIDIA for their software and fabless company which designs and supplies graphics processing units' application programming interfaces for data science and high-performance computing, as well as system on a chip units for the mobile computing and automotive market.

Infinite Water Inc. understands the general need for these technical achievements; however, it is still founded in Artificial Intelligence. To have real value there has to be a demand. Or is the new wave NVIDIA'S chips so effective for AI training, that makes them essential for companies engaged in machine learning and generative AI still the goal of everyday people?

Infinite Complex, while deeply involved with technology to improve the continued healthy existence of life, still understands and agrees that the most consumed product on Earth is water. Infinite Complex is also aware that there is an undermining factor in placing value, in as much, as the second most consumed product in the world is concrete.
